How I organize my succulents on the iPhone

- Take a photo of the succulent (with the identifying plant label, if possible).
- In the Caption area, enter the name of the succulent.
- Find a good source of information on the Internet, copy the web address, and paste the address also in the Caption area.
- Move the photo to your Succulents album.

How to use the iPhone to identify a plant

- Under the photo, select the "I" information button.
- Select "Look up plant."

For Android users, Google Photos has similar features.

Organizing:

- Click on the three horizontal dots above the photo.
- Enter the name and web address where it says "Add description. . ."

Identifying:

- Under the photo select "Lens."
- Move the frame around the plant (if necessary).
- Select "Search."
